Talk: “Power Shift: Becoming an Artist Entrepreneur”

Thursday, March 20, 2014
at 7–9:30 p.m.

Martha A. and Robert S. Rubin Pavilion, 1st Floor

With the rise of the cultural economy in Brooklyn and worldwide, more creatives are building their own careers. Join us for an evening of community-building activities and talks that will give you the skills to become a creative entrepreneur. Co-hosted by J. A. Williams Law – The Artist Empowerment Firm and Project Inkblot and featuring a talk by Casey Kelbaugh, photographer and founder of Slideluck. Music by DJ Selly. Come early for a tour at 6:30 p.m. making connections between the talk and Witness: Art and Civil Rights in the Sixties.

Tickets are available for $12 at www.museumtix.com and include Museum general admission and one drink. Free for Museum Members; to reserve, call the Membership Hotline at (718) 501-6326 or email membership@brooklynmuseum.org.
